

FOR ORGANISATIONS

Partner with TIMLAR

TIMLAR is a personal safety app. A person starts a session, and the people they trust follow along from a simple link. It is in testing now on iPhone and Android, and we are looking for organisations that want to help us keep it affordable.

Running TIMLAR costs money: servers, maps, text messages and notifications. We want TIMLAR to cover its costs and nothing more, so that safety does not depend on who can pay.

What TIMLAR does for your members

A member starts a session when they want someone looking out for them. Their trusted people see their state and location live from a secure link, with no app needed on their side. The member ends the session when they are safe.

- Sharing only happens during a session, never always-on.
- Each person chooses who receives the link and can revoke it at any time.
- The app does not contact emergency services, and says so clearly.

Ways to help

- Sponsor part of the running costs.
- Make a donation.
- Share TIMLAR with your members so they can try it while it is in testing.
- Tell us what your members need, so we build the right things.

What partners get

- Early access for your members during testing.
- A thank-you on this site, only if you want one.
- A direct line to our team.
- Honest updates on how TIMLAR is progressing.

What we will never do

- Sell your members' data or show advertising.
- Give a partner access to anyone's sessions or location.
- Use your name without your agreement.

How to start

Email partners@timlar.com and tell us about your organisation, roughly how many members you have and what you have in mind. We read every message.
